Company: AWL-Techniek

Location: Netherlands

Category: arts-design-entertainment-sports-and-media

You play a crucial role as the first point of contact on the shop floor for a project team involved in the assembly, testing and delivery of innovative automated machines.

From simple welding cells to automated production lines where different joining techniques come together. No project is the same!

As Project Coordinator, you are the driving force on the shop floor, where you lead one or more projects. You work together with a team of talented mechanics and programmers from different fields. You are the link between orders, drawings and concepts, and you discuss them with the Project Manager and Engineers. Before the assembly process starts, you draw up a detailed plan to go through the project process in the most efficient way together with your team. You carefully research and plan how many and which employees are needed for the execution. In addition, you carry the following responsibilities:

You manage the project team on the shop floor on a daily basis and ensure the smooth progress of the project.

You coordinate the delivery of parts and sub-assemblies from the warehouse.

You assess the quality of the work and, thanks to your technical commitment, suggest solutions to any problems.

You keep track of changes and organise the necessary inspections and tests.

Together with the Team Leader and Project Manager, you will be responsible for delivering a technically high-quality end product to our customers on time and within budget. Your contribution is invaluable to the success of our company!
